- 13) Here is a poem in which the poet shares his experience of a railway journey with us.

From a Railway Carriage

Faster than fairies, faster than witches, Bridges and houses, hedges and ditches. And charging along like troops in a battle. All through the meadows the horses and cattle. All of the sights of the hill and the plain fly as thick as driving rain; And ever again in the wink of an eye, painted stations whistle by.

Here is a child who clambers and scrambles, All by himself and gathering brambles; Here is a tramp who stands and gazes; And here is the green for stringing the daisies? Here is a cart seen away in the road humping along with man and load, And here is a mill and there is a river each a glimpse and gone for ever ?

Write a review of the poem written by Robert Louis Stevenson in about 120 words Comparing it with 'The Express', by Stephen Spender.

(Clambers & Scrumbles – clumb somewhere with difficulty, lumping – making
A group b rambles – A wild bush with thronq which produces black Tramp- A homeless

Catherine: “It is well. You refuse, then, to oblige me. You refuse to obey the claims of duty, honour and gratitude. You are determined to receive him in the opinion of all his friends and make him the contempt of the world”.

Elizabeth replied “Neither duty nor honour nor gratitude have any possible claim on me, in the present instance. No principle of either, would be violated by my marriage with Mr. Darcy”.
